

27 April is International Noise Awareness Day, which has been marked across the world on the last Wednesday in April for the last 20 years to promote the protection of the acoustic environment .

The Port Authority of Valencia monitors and controls acoustic emissions from the port environment. To do so it has in place

- Predictive and static noise maps for the ports of Sagunto, Valencia and Gandía to assess the noise levels generated by port activity.
- A network of sound level meters to measure the port-city interface in real time.
