

May 10th: World Migratory Bird Day

ENVIRONMENTAL
TIP #72

We must all become aware of the need to protect migratory birds, their routes and their habitats, to help maintain balanced ecosystems.

The Port Authority of Valencia (PAV) monitors birds under its Environmental Monitoring Plan (EMP) of the North extension of the Port of Valencia.

Monitoring of the PAV Avifauna

The EMP involves monitoring the birds that use the port as a nesting ground, in a way that is compatible with the port's activity.

The PAV, in collaboration with the Valencian Government Wildlife Service, is monitoring the protected species that nest at the Port of Valencia each year, including the Audouin's gull, little terns, and the common tern, among others.
